- Verbal, telephone calls or messages, email, or fax are not forms of entry.
- Entries must be "received" by the due date (not postmarked).
- Failure of the postal delivery system is not the responsibility of the Club.
- It is the player's duty to check the "Paid Entries" on the Club website to verify receipt of their entry before the entry due date and to notify the Club of any discrepancy (ie. your name is missing) www.golfwoodbridge.com/pairings.html
- Notification received after the pairings have been made public is generally considered too late to correct.

I understand and agree that if my name does not appear on the pairings sheet and there is no record of the entry being received, entry into the tournament is at the sole discretion of the Club.

I understand and agree that entry fees received after the due date will be returned or, at the sole discretion of the Club, the player may be used as a substitute or fill in.

- Substitutes and fill-ins are at the sole discretion of the Club due to the time required to make tournament preparation changes.

I understand and agree that being a "no show" at a tournament is disruptive and may lead to further action by the Club.

I understand and agree that the Club has no duty or obligation to any player late for their tee time and that the late player(s), at the sole discretion of the Club, may be disqualified from the tournament.

CANCELLATIONS

I understand and agree that when a player who has given notice of cancellation after the entry due date, or date otherwise designated by the Club, and who is subsequently removed from the tournament pairings sheet and roster, remains subject to full forfeiture of the entry fee regardless of the status on the tournament i.e. cancellation, rain out.

I understand and agree that players who are on the tournament roster and pairings sheet at the time of any event cancellation and that results in reimbursement to the Club by the tournament golf course, will receive a refund or credit proportionate to the refund, if any, received by the Club.

- Prior notice of personal cancellation will remove an entrant from the tournament roster and pairings sheet; Player may not be eligible for any reimbursement.
